“

I think this is the next big thing in crypto. If you talk to any S&P 500 company and ask them, “Are you planning to use blockchain technology to manage inventory, provide logistics, contract management, et cetera, et cetera?” They all say yes. So I think the next big thing in crypto is which of these chains is going to get at least one company in all 11 sectors of the S&P. Because the minute that occurs, you wanna go long that token. That's going to be a game changer, and I've got a whole team working on that. So far, I haven't found it yet.

BUILDING THE NETWORK BEFORE THE REVENUE

History has shown that transformational infrastructure requires significant investment before widespread adoption.

THE WIRELESS REVOLUTION (1990s)

- Invested $1B+ before meaningful subscriber revenue
- Acquired valuable wireless spectrum
- Built thousands of cellular sites
- Constructed switching & payment infrastructure
- Created the foundation that ultimately became T-Mobile USA

VS.

THE DIGITAL PAYMENTS REVOLUTION (2020s+)

- Building global Web3 payment infrastructure
- Crypto-to-fiat payment network
- POS terminals, online payments & settlement
- Merchant ecosystem before mass adoption
- Designed for global digital commerce

THE PATTERN IS FAMILIAR

Every major infrastructure revolution requires substantial investment before widespread adoption creates recurring revenue.

Seasoned fintech and blockchain strategist with deep expertise in payments, digital banking, and tokenized economies.

Hakan Törehan is a seasoned fintech and blockchain strategist with a career spanning over two decades in the financial technology, payments, and data analytics sectors. He has played a pioneering role in shaping Turkey's modern financial landscape — leading the establishment of the country's first independent ATM network and contributing to the development of the national individual credit insurance system, which became a cornerstone in consumer finance. Earlier in his career, Hakan worked extensively in the United Kingdom, where he collaborated with major banking and payment technology providers on ATM and POS infrastructure projects. His work focused on optimizing data-driven transaction systems and integrating advanced analytics into cash machine operations — experience that later influenced his vision for the digital banking transformation in Turkey and beyond. Recognized for his ability to bridge traditional finance with emerging blockchain ecosystems, Hakan has been instrumental in designing scalable, compliant, and user-centric financial architectures. His leadership at Miracle Group and Metaterra reflects his commitment to driving blockchain-based financial innovation, fostering tokenized economies, and promoting the global adoption of decentralized financial technologies. With a deep understanding of regulatory frameworks, data analytics, and digital payments, Hakan continues to advise on initiatives that redefine how technology and finance intersect — empowering businesses, investors, and consumers alike to participate in the future of digital economies worldwide.

Miracle Chain: $200 Million Oil-Backed Initiative To Build African Capital Gateway

By Amit Chowdhry • Mar 18, 2026

Miracle Chain has announced a new blockchain-based initiative aimed at expanding global access to African markets through tokenized assets and integrated payment infrastructure. The project centers on building a scalable financial framework designed to make African economic opportunities more accessible, structured, and investable for international participants.

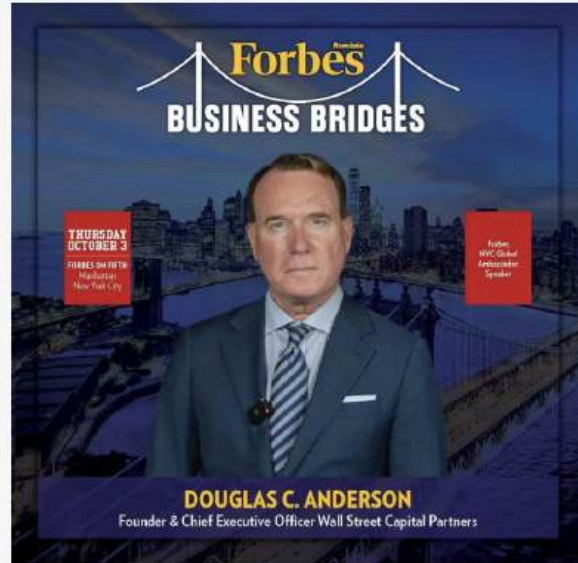

At the core of the initiative are Miracle Chain and Miracle Pay, which together form the technological backbone for facilitating transparent transactions, asset tokenization, and real-world payment flows. The platform is being positioned not as a speculative digital asset play, but as foundational financial infrastructure intended to bridge the gap between African assets and global capital markets.

The initiative is expected to launch with a $200 million oil reserve pledge as part of a tokenized African Growth Fund, with plans to scale beyond $1 billion over time as adoption increases and additional assets are integrated. The platform will also introduce a token architecture known as TANU, designed to connect asset-backed value in Africa with broader investor participation.

Exceptional Leadership

Following the legacy of Forbes, which has been supporting entrepreneurs since 1917, this event promises a full day of high-end keynote speeches, insightful panel discussions and top-tier networking opportunities. We aim to bring together American and Romanian decision-makers and visionaries in IT, retail and real estate for meaningful and dynamic business-making conversations.

A LEGACY OF REAL ESTATE DEVELOPMENT

OVER 60 YEARS OF REAL ESTATE EXCELLENCE

More than 60 years ago, Jan Czucker broke ground on his first development. It laid the foundation for the Legado Companies iconic real estate business that would help to drive the rapid transformation of Southern California.

The Legado Companies have built, operated and financed the construction of thousands of quality residences and retail spaces for the region since then.

Today, Edward Czucker, Jan's son, carries on his father's legacy and commitment under the "Legado" name to build strong and vibrant communities. Under his leadership, the Legado Companies are making a mark throughout Southern California and beyond.

The principles that built the Legado Companies remain constant: insist on quality, never cease to innovate, and always give back to the community.

Legado, which means "legacy" in Spanish, pays tribute to Southern California's Spanish heritage.

Hakan Törehan: A new era begins in payments with Miracle Pay.

Hakan Törehan announced the official start of the global rollout of Miracle Pay, developed under Miracle Cash and More, which he founded. In his statement, Törehan emphasized that Miracle Pay is not just a crypto payment solution, but offers a new generation hybrid payment infrastructure that operates within the natural flow of real commerce.
